Arenas combine with other community components like education, science and technology, hotels, and parks to create a multi-purpose venue. From Convention centers to auditoriums for live performances, it's vital the furniture is rated for public spaces for the diverse event calendar.

Stadiums aim to create inviting space for the community to enjoy and require remarkably flexible interior space capable of hosting community meetings, ice sports and multipurpose activity courts all at once. They facilitate the flow of tens of thousands of people in a short time, provide shopping and catering facilities and give spectators an amazing view of the game. From VIP suites to the communal lounge spaces, the furniture must be commercially rated for this type of use.

Hi5 tables are designed to be used in public community gathering spaces that can be used in conjunction with events or in general as a wider community resource, hosting separate events, farmers markets and community organizations.
